Subject: Bad Microsoft Settlement

Hello

The Microsoft settlement is a very short-sighted answer. With such weak restrictions Microsoft will continue to bundle their products and will soon dominate the instant messenger and media player markets because of it.

I am also very concerned that there is absolutely no punishment for them. I can't believe that on such a high profile case the American Judicial system wants to send the message that white collar crime is never punished! Its just offensive!

The next time I go out and break the law can I also get this type of treatment?
